

Climatic LGP analysis for five decades from 1961 to 2013

Areas under adequate length of growing period (LGP-period in terms of water availability for crop production) showed declining trend from 1971 to 2007. The decreasing trend may seriously affect land suitability zones for food grain crops